The story of Little Ree is basically my own story! I moved to the country (as an adult) after living in town my whole life, so I was able to draw on all of those experiences and tell them from the perspective of a little girl. What was one of the most surprising things you learned in creating this story?

The story takes an interesting turn when Little Ree and Hyacinth decide to enter the county fair pie baking contest, and they decide the only way to win is to go out and hunt for fresh berries. As you can imagine, it's an adventure. (By the way, it's skunk mating season on the ranch right now, so this illustration couldn't be more timely.)
